“ Stacey will be missed as a true friend and great neighbor. He had no issues with helping mount a TV on the wall, boosting your car battery, advising on electronic devices and the list goes on. Stacey stepped in as a grandfather figure to my kids. A special nick name (Turkey) was shared between Stacey and my son Carlos. My daughter, Abi looked for his help with her school projects. Stacey loved being an amateur photographer. I admired his deep interest in his family history and entering the information onto Ancestry.com. Stacey presences will be forever missed by the Branch family. Rest in peace my friend.

“ Stacey was a very special friend. We got to know each other families very well and spent time with them. His grandsons sons Dwight, Dion and Donte called me their Atlanta mama and my nieces and nephews called him Uncle Stacey. He got a treat when he saw he could make my mother laugh. He taught my son the game of golf. We spent many hours, watching movies, listening to his vast music collection, traveling, collecting and framing art, one of his favorite pastimes along with family ancestry.
Rest in Peace my dear friend.

“ I remember as a kid in the 70s and 80s that when my parents told me Uncle Stacy was coming over, I was excited more than other relatives . He was always lively and fun to be around. To this day I remember sitting next to him back in the 70s when I was a kid eating fish and he told me to eat the bread along with it to soften up the bones. I don't know why that stuck in my memory all these years. But you know, death is a destiny not a tragedy. And in a way, we should be happy when someone else meets their destiny . What awaits them also awaits us. And that's what keeps us together forever.

“ The strongest and fondest memories I have of my Uncle Stacey came after my father (his big brother) passed away. He would call me on my dad’s birthday and sometimes other times of the year, just to check up. He loved to talk about the old days and about long-past relatives. He was passionate about ancestry and loved researching online and building family trees—even wanted to open a family history museum! I so wished I’d written down those stories or at least held them tighter in my memory. Now much of the memories that remain are of his voice, (which over the phone sounded so much like my dad’s that it startled me sometimes), his positive spirit, passion for life, and for his appreciation of those who came before us.

“ My family extends our deepest sympathy to the Thompson family. My fondest memories are the times we played golf together oftentimes in the cold. He had a contagious sense of humor often telling jokes and teasing. The highlight of our day was going to different restaurants because he loved to eat! At the end of our day when we had finished golfing, eating, laughing and teasing, we would listen to some smooth jazz. He had an extensive music and art collection. Now my brother at the end of your journey, know that you will be sorely missed but never forgotten. Your buddy, Lionel Lofton

“ Our grandmothers were sisters but we didn't know it for a long time. I knew who he was because of his frequent visits near my home. When it became apparent to my brother and I that we were related we developed a strong relationship with Stacy. We would always meet at family gatherings where he would display his creative sense of humor and his command of family genealogy through Ancestry.com. May you rest in peace my brother as you join our ancestors!
